DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The use of the trademarks Rayon, Nylon and Sisal has been noted in this application. They should be capitalized wherever they appear and be accompanied by the generic terminology. The trademarks in claim 8 must be accompanied by generic terminology.

Although the use of trademarks is permissible in patent applications, the proprietary nature of the marks should be respected and every effort made to prevent their use in any manner which might adversely affect their validity as trademarks.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1-21 and 23-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 1 is indefinite because it is unclear whether the zeolite types following "in particular" are positively recited as limiting the zeolite, or if all faujasites are being claimed. For examination it is assumed that the broad faujasites are not further limited. Claims 2-21 and 23-34 are indefinite for depending from a rejected parent claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1, 3, 7 and 11-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by the European Patent Application (EP 0403141 A1).
6. EP '141 teaches a cracking catalyst 3% inorganic phosphate, 20% USY zeolite, 30% clay and 20% silica that are combined by mixing in a slurry, drying and calcining. The zeolite is ion exchanged with rare earth metals to decrease alkaline content to less than 1 wt. %, and is capable of adsorbing organic sulfur compounds because it is highly porous with a large surface area (see page 3, lines 30-55, example 3, claims 1-5).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over EP '141.
9. EP '141 discloses all of the limitations of the claim except that the clay content is between 5-20 weight %. Absent a proper showing of criticality or unexpected results, the amount of clay is considered to be a parameter that would have been routinely optimized by one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention because it is a structural filler material and a balance must be achieved between zeolite performance and material cost.

Allowable Subject Matter

10. Claims 2, 5, 6, 8-10, 13-21 and 23-34 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

11. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:
The prior art of record fails to disclose or suggest a motivation for ion exchanging after drying, using at least 70% sodium form faujasite, using a specified pore forming agent, using one of the recited phosphorous salts in claim 10, or using the formed adsorbent for removing or desorbing organic sulfur compounds.

Conclusion

12. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The additional references listed on the attached PTO-892 form disclose phosphorous containing zeolites.
